RebloCELL EGF

WHAT IS EGF ?

In 1986, Dr. Stanley Cohen discovered EGF as a skin-related substance. He won the Nobel prize in Physiology and Medicine in the same year.

This substance, named "EGF," is a protein that exists in the human body and plays a significant role in skin regeneration.

EGF (Epidermal Growth Factor)

The human body is constantly sending and receiving messages to and from cells.

EGF is a "signal protein" that sends a skin regeneration message to the human body and sends a message to create new skin cells. As skin aging progresses after the age of 20, EGF production rapidly decreases and wrinkles appear.

Rebloccell's EGF is a reviving skin regeneration protein that is preserved in room temperature for 2 years.

EGF is one of the proteins that humans are born with and produced by the human body. Like all proteins, EGF is vulnerable to chemicals and deteriorates at room temperature. This is the reason why EGF cosmetics have not been effective in the past.

Rebloccell revitalizes the skin through natural bio-cosmetics, and it is a mechanism to create new skin by absorbing active EGF into the epidermis and dermis where aging has started, allowing you to continuously maintain young and healthy skin.

Continuous research by Rebloccell R&D for over 40 years.

After numerous studies, Rebloccell's research team has developed a technology that allows EGF to be maintained in a perfectly stable state at room temperature and it has been individually certified by the Ministry of Food and Drug Safety. This stabilized EGF stays fresh for more than 2 years in the opened product.

Rebloccell's technology is safe.

In order to preserve human-derived proteins in the best condition, preservatives are not added to Rebloccell's ampoules and mask packs. It stays fresh for 2 years without preservatives and maintains high activity stably. It also does not contain harmful chemical additives, so it is not irritating to the skin or human body. All Rebloccell products are directly extracted from raw materials on the day of manufacture. The freshly made gift of the human body is re-supplied to our weary skin, allowing the skin to breathe. We can restore our natural beauty.

Traditional Mfg. Method

The low-temperature aging method is a traditional Korean soap manufacturing technique that has been completed by craftsmanship for two generations. As such, it is a foam cleansing that makes it easier to use compared to CP soap manufacturing method over a long time.

A large amount of natural glycerin generated during soap aging helps prevent skin diseases such as atopic dermatitis and maintains the original acidic membrane of the skin

Healthy cleansing

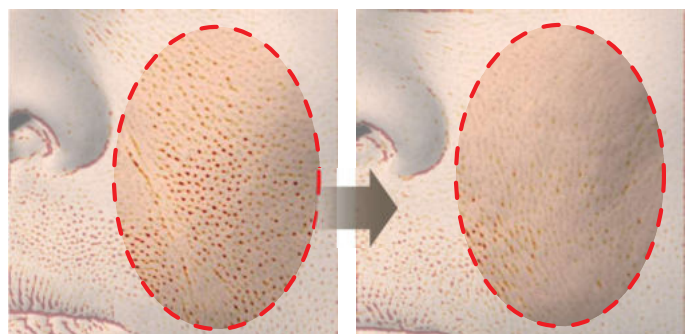

Highly active EGF, which helps restore aging skin, low-temperature aged natural oil and 10 kinds of herbal extracts make sensitive and aging skin elastic and healthy.

Wash your face with a rich foam made of natural ingredients without irritation. Soft foam made from the fermentation of natural oil, natural surfactants naturally produced from aged oil and no synthetic surfactants make the foam particles dense and create bubbles with oil-specific viscosity. Soft and fine bubbles comes into contact with the skin to nourish the skin's epidermis.

What if we could keep your precious skin unharmed, long ever after, defying the time that flows only forward, by unwinding the clock of the age of your skin, to maintain your everlasting beauty? That's what we at rebloccell are going to do.

Being away from home, from sanctuary you thought you belonged to, only to end up feeling worn out, this inspired me to think what if the so called 'well being' and 'health' could be finally revealed? This is how we began our journey to re-lapse all the beauty that everyone deserves but have lost. After some time only to realize that EGF is the sole way to keep your cherished skin looking ever graceful, this is how our journey began as a brand called 'rebloccell'

Re Blossom Cell - rebloccell

Among all the products so called 'well being' which turn out to have been proven as merely a marketing 'tool' to sell their products, we, rebloccell, pursue the philosophy of minimalism in ingredients that our very desire is not focused on selling our products, but rather to keep your cherished skin in bloom ever long.

We, rebloccell, is the world's first and only company who have successfully developed EGF identical human via protein recombination to regenerate you as seen in the clinical results on which you can verify yourself, to re-bloom your skin.

“ To look younger for much longer ” is the very phrase that we can achieve via bio-technology. For your every-glowing beauty that will never fade, let us be a part of it, let rebloccell help you " to look younger for much longer. "
